THE LADY ON THE LINKS.

Enjoying a Game of Golf With the Wife of Your Friend.
 She—Would you mind feeling up my ball? Thank you. Perhaps a little higher. John says I ought to have my tees lower, but somehow I never dare try. Shall I go? (She drives and goes about twenty feet.) How dreadful! He cheerfully—That's nothing! One never expects to play for the first three holes. (He drives and goes about twenty-two feet.) You see!

She—Never mind. What club would you use here?

He—The grass is pretty long. I think under the conditions I should use an iron.

She (calmly taking out her brassie)—Yes, I suppose I should, but one can always go so much farther with a brassie. (She tops the ball, which goes about ten feet.) How dreadful!

He—Never mind. (Savagely driving his ball with his iron out of the grass nearly a hundred yards.)

She—Wonderful! John says you play such a consistent game.

He—The last time I played with John I cost me $10.

She—What? You don't play for money, do you? John says—

He—Oh, never! I broke four clubs. (At the end of the eighteenth hole her score is 108. He has a bad 110.)

She—It was awfully good of you to put up with me.

He—Good! The pleasure is mine. After all, it isn't your score that counts. It's the exercise.

She—Thank you so much. (Later to John.) He told me I played some simply wonderful shots and said I was developing a great game. There!

He—Of course you are, dear. (Later to him.) Say, old man, how do you like lying to another man's wife instead of your own?—Life.

QUEER HUMAN NATURE.

How the Significance of Words May Change With the Years.

How the same word may have a different significance for the same man at different stages of his life is given in the following from the New York Post, as adapted and expanded from the French in the Paris Fiasco:

Life.—At twenty: Days that are coming. At fifty: Days that are going.

The Heart.—At twenty: An organ whose frequent palpitations are due to strong emotion. At fifty: An organ whose frequent palpitations are due to indigestion.

The Truth.—At twenty: Something to be flaunted in the face of the whole world. At fifty: Something it is not always polite to tell.

Poetry.—At twenty: Something you read with eagerness and enthusiasm. At fifty: Something to quote.

Time.—At twenty: You imagine you never have enough of it. Therefore are always in a hurry. At fifty: You know you never have enough of it. Therefore never hurry.

A Muffler.—At twenty: A protection for one's dress shirt. At fifty: A protection for what is under one's dress shirt.

The Hair.—At twenty: You shake it back off your forehead. At fifty: Comb it carefully down across your forehead.

Key.—At twenty: A contrivance used to open things with. At fifty: A contrivance used to shut things with.

Mrs. Julia Robinson Miller, aged 25 years old, wife of Fisher Miller, died after a very short illness at her home in St. John, New Brunswick, Monday. Mrs. Miller was the daughter of John A. Robinson and lived for a period of time in Old Bennington. She was also connected by ties of kindred to the Robinson and Hubbell families so well known in Bennington's history. Her grandfather was Daniel Robinson of Troy and many years president of the old Troy and Boston railroad. Mrs. Miller is survived by her husband, infant son and only brother, John A. Robinson of Boston. She was the niece of Misses Lulu and Mary Robinson and the late Mrs. John V. D. S. Merrill of Old Bennington.

OLD CASH COLE

Listen, please, that you may know:

This is an absolutely cash store. It has been one since the first day its door was opened in January, 1893.

Before that for twenty-two years it was a credit store.

When we made the change—we advertised in the Bennington Banner that we would GIVE receipts to all that called.

Thousands of dollars was wiped off our books—we started with a clean slate; and since have done business FOR CASH ONLY.

We have by this method been able to maintain prices during this tremendous war advance and to-day scarcely anything in the store has been advanced.

It is no reflection on your credit or ability to pay, but if you do not wish to be refused credit here do not ask for it.

We are perfectly willing any responsible party should take merchandise home on memorandum to look over, try on, show some one, but this must not be construed as a credit transaction.

NOW—

The Albany Evening Journal of Tuesday, September 5th, is full of Praise for

"Ramona"

HARMANUS BLEEKER HALL

"Ramona."

W. H. Clune's his photograph play "Ramona," a story of Indian life in old California, drew large crowds at both the matinee and evening performances yesterday at Harmanus Bleeker hall. The film is taken from the well read story of Helen Hunt Jackson, and in the presentation every outstanding effect of the novel is reproduced on the screen, which is well worth seeing. "Ramona" is a love tale of sorrow, adventure, persecution, with an ending restful and one that leaves the spectator with a sense of peace and thankfulness that all has happened out well. There are many striking scenes in the film, one of which is the shearing of thousands of sheep, the life of the California Indian, his home, his every day life of the old times.

Miss Ada Gleason, the "Ramona" of the cast, is particularly suited to the role, having an almost aboriginal cast of features and her acting is a that can be desired. Monroe Salisbury is also typical as the Indian being a little and possessing an expressive countenance by which he conveys the emotions of the heart and mind as plainly as the spoken word. The remainder of the cast is equally satisfactory, while the beautiful scenery of the locale is wonderfully depicted and clear. "Ramona" will be given twice daily at the Hall during the week. The Boston Ladies' Symphony orchestra furnishes the music during the play.

'RAMONA' Will be Shown at The OPERA HOUSE

TO NIGHT at 8:15 25c to 75c
 TOMORROW at 2:15—25c, 50c. At 8:15—25c to 75c
